The faehr are a pitch black skinned folk. The faehr possess magical powers bound into their very soul. In turn, this affects everything they do. Nearly all attacks these creatures make are wrapped in magic - even those attacks which one would perceive as entirely physical, have magical roots when being raised by the faehr.

The faehr people are highly intelligent and extremely dexterous.

Like the onillin, the faehr are highly evolved in movement. However, unlike the onillin, the faehr's quick movement is only fully seen in combat. While the onillin can bend time in all circumstances, the faehr move most quickly when dire situations arise - combat. As is the case, when the faehr do call forth their inherent quickness, few can protect themselves from their attacks as few see them coming.

The faehr are an incredibly powerful mix of both physical and magical prowess.
