

Update 2/10/2008:

Written by Serenity

Sunday, 10 February 2008 22:37 - Last Updated Wednesday, 13 February 2008 18:47

- Super unique week is finally over.

- Rule #10 has been updated to include the exception of the flame channel.
For more information, see 'help rules'.

10. Racial or sexual slurs on Nodeka will not be tolerated and it is requested that you use good judgement when using global channels. The Nodeka aids, however, will not censor comments aside from slurs listed above. If a slur of one of the types above is made, you will be dealt with as the Nodeka aid feels is appropriate.

Note: the one exception to this rule is the flame channel. The flame channel is in place for players to speak, without any fear of punishment. Anything said on the flame channel is allowed, with the exception of spamming the channel. As such, no player will be punished for anything they say on the flame channel.